DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The subject matter of this application admits of illustration by a drawing to facilitate understanding of the invention. Applicant is required to furnish a drawing under 37 CFR 1.81(c). No new matter may be introduced in the required drawing. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 3, 5, and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In regards to claims 3 and 17, what is meant by "contact regions"? What possesses them? Claim 3 specifically recites "at least one of first contact regions", yet none have been previously claimed. One of ordinary skill in the art would not be able to understand what is being taught, much less what possesses these contact regions.

In regards to claim 5, what is "matrix material"? No matrix material has been previously claimed, and it is unclear where such a material originates, much less, what it is.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3765

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-8, 11-14, and 17, as best understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Simpson et al (4202164).

Simpson teaches a single cable (Figure) comprising an inner layer of synthetic fiber (Abstract) strands (18), an outer layer of synthetic fiber strands (12), a least one wax lubricant (19; Column 2, line 29) located between and on the strands, and allowing for contact lubrication. Simpson also inherently teaches the process of providing the following single cable components and creating the cable.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 9, 10, 15, and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Simpson.

Simpson essentially teaches the invention as discussed above, but fails to specifically teach lubricant thickeners. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to incorporate thickeners in the lubricant used in Simpson, so as to prolong the useful life of the cable. Thicker lubricants would allow for slower flow, which would insure longer existence between the strands, thus prolonging the useful life of the cable. In regards to organic versus inorganic, these are the only two options since all materials are either organic, or inorganic, and as such, any material would obviously be chosen from these two choices.

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Jamison et al (4344278), Simpson et al (4422286), Riggs et al (4602476), Riggs (4606183), Smyth (4667462), Misrachi (6385957), De Josez et al (6412264), and Bertini et al (2002/0002815) all teach what is well known in the lubricated cable art.
